By Metro / RER

Sony CSL Paris is well-served by metro stops. The RER (express metro) line B, which connects to Paris Charles de Gaulle and Orly airports and the Gare du Nord station, stops at Luxembourg, 5-10 minutes walk from Sony. The metro stations Place Monge and Cardinal Lemoine are even closer. See the directions below for information on how to get to Sony CSL Paris from these stations.

By Taxi

Tell the taxi driver to take you to rue Amyot ("rue Am-yo"). Because rue Amyot is very small, many taxi drivers may not know where to find it. The easiest thing to do is simply to show them this map.

Luxembourg

Take the RER line B to Luxembourg. Take the 'Jardins de Luxembourg' exit from the station. With the gardens on your left, walk along the Boulevard St Michel. Turn right onto the narrow Rue Royer Collard, cross Rue Gay-Lussac and continue uphill until you reach Rue St Jacques. Turn left, then right and continue walking up the Rue des Fossés St Jacques. Cross the place de l'Estrapade with its small fountain, and walk down Rue Lhomond. On your right is the Institut Curie, and then the Ecole Normale Supérieure. On your left, opposite the ENS, is Rue Amyot. Sony CSL Paris is at number 6 on the left. (10 minutes)

Place Monge

Take metro line 7 to Place Monge. When you come out of the metro, you will find yourself in the middle of Place Monge. If you turn to face away from Rue Monge, you will see a large building with a tall gate, the national guard barracks. Rue Ortolan is on the right. Walk up Rue Ortolan until you come to Rue Mouffetard. Cross the road and walk down the Rue du Pot de Fer, which is a narrow pedestrianised street lined with restaurants. Turn right onto Rue Tournefort, and then left onto Rue Amyot. Sony CSL Paris is on your right. (5 minutes)

Cardinal Lemoine

Take metro line 10 to Cardinal Lemoine. Walk uphill up rue Cardinal Lemoine (if you're not sure which road to take, look for the steepest one; there's a baker's shop on the corner, and a fire station just beyond it on the righthand side). Continue until you come to the place de la Contrescarpe with its cafes and central fountain. Take the narrow rue de Blainville and then turn left onto rue Tournefort. Turn right onto Rue Amyot, and Sony CSL Paris will be on your right. (5 minutes)
